

My tears are falling – Paul G. Barnsley

My tears are falling Lord help me to release
My fears and feelings before Your mercy seat:
And as they fall I call and trust upon Your grace,
Daring to raise my eyes to gaze upon Your face
Where I see Your love for me
Hands that reach to set me free
And hold me close to You,
And hold me close to You.

If we can't cry before God, where can we cry? This song was written for Rev Graham Horsley and his encouragement of tears in Christian healing. Jesus quoted from Isaiah 61:1-3 where he talks about binding up the broken-hearted, proclaiming freedom and release, and providing comfort to those who mourn.

©1997 Paul G. Barnsley
Web Distribution www.heartnotes.org.uk