

Drawn here to worship – Paul G. Barnsley

Drawn here to worship, I kneel at Your feet
And gaze Lord in awe towards Your throne.
Here, Lord I offer, this life, Lord I bring
My sacrifice to You my King.

Give my heart Your passion,
Write on it Your laws,
Pour through it Your Spirit and Your love
That I may see the plans You have for me.

When we come to worship, to draw very close to God, we can feel His presence and catch a sense of being able to approach His Throne in that “Most Holy Place”. We come to offer our Maker our lives and ask Him to change our heart, our innermost being: to fill it with his Spirit, that His love and compassion might flow out of our lives, and write His laws there lest we forget His ways. And finally we can be reassured – He’s got plans for us. See Romans 12:1, Psalm 51:10, Jeremiah 31:33 and Jeremiah 29:11.

© May 1998, Paul G. Barnsley
Web Distribution www.heartnotes.org.uk